Welcome to your latest issue of The One Stop Local for Mansfield Woodhouse, Forest Town, Kings Clipstone and Clipstone Village residents - your local business directory and handy lifestyle magazine full of interesting and useful information

Christmas is both exciting, with twinkling lights and sparkling decorations, and sentimental, with a love of tradition. This seems to make us all much more amenable to giving; family, friends, acquaintances and charity are likely to benefit from our goodwill.

However, we're sure you share our dilemma: We will give presents to those we know well, but we also want to say thanks to so many others - co-workers, suppliers and people we recognise from regular places we visit.

Internet research says that even just a message to an individual is definitely worthwhile, whether that's verbal, electronic or a Christmas card. However, the advice is to ensure that what you say is personalised. Not just 'thanks for the past year' as you could be saying that to anyone. But more along the lines of 'You are always so cheerful/you are really efficient/you always go the extra mile'. What about someone you've never met? We hope that being specific about what you appreciate still holds some weight, so here's one from us.

We only know most of our advertisers through their business, not personally. Nor do we know much about you, the reader, other than that you must live locally to see this issue. So all we can do is to say this: thank you for reading the magazine, for entering our competitions, for responding to community and charity features and for using the advertisers. From us both at the One Stop Local, we really do value your support.

Have a wonderful Christmas and we'll back next time with our next issue, until then take care and best wishes,

Michelle & Ann-Marie

Monty

Hi all I'm Monty and I am looking for a home of my own!

I came into Jerry Green as a stray and have been busy settling into my new life here but it isn't the same as having a family of my own. I am a really clever boy and love to keep my mind busy. For this reason, I would really like an active family who enjoy going on quiet adventures and will continue my training. I am currently working on keeping calm when I see novel things like dogs and people when I am out on my walks so would like my walks to be in quiet areas where I can continue to build my confidence. Sniffing and exploring is one of my favourite things to do! I cannot live with any other animals but I do have a big personality with plenty of love to give. I am looking for an adult only home as I am still young and learning how to be the best dog possible. Once I am settled into my new home, I could be left for 1-2 hours and this could potentially be built up further. I love familiar people so wouldn't want you to be gone for too long. I am dreaming of my very own garden to play in. I love zooming around with my toys so would need a secure private garden with 6ft fencing to keep me safe. If you have a Monty sized hole in your heart, then please get in touch with my friends here at the Nottingham centre on notts@jerrygreendogs.org.uk or you can call on 01623 792886. I am looking forward to meeting you! Love Monty xxx

Hi I'm Freddie and I am on the search for my forever home!

I came into Jerry Green after being kept in some pretty horrible conditions, all that has changed now that I am here though, I feel like I am in a luxury hotel! Due to my past I can take some time to trust people, this means that I would prefer to walk in areas that I wouldn't need to walk close to other people as I get a little scared and can sometimes freeze on the spot. I'd need a home with no children under the age of 16 but would absolutely love another dog in the home. Other dog friends help me with my confidence, I enjoy running and zooming around with my dog friends here at Jerry Green, especially Florence, she is my bestie! Although I gain a lot of confidence from other dogs whilst I am settling in I would like my new home to have ways of being able to manage and separate me from them from time to time as when I feel overwhelmed by the world I can sometimes stress hump other dogs, I know it is very gentlemanly but I really can't help it when I feel overwhelmed and stressed. I would really like my own secure garden where I can spend time if walks feel a little overwhelming and where I can continue my housetraining. If you feel you would like to show me what true love and affection along with a warm home really feels like then please contact my friends here at the Nottinghamshire center on notts@jerrygreendogs.org.uk or you can call on 01623 792886. I look forward to hearing from you! Lots of love and licks, Freddie :) xxx

Relocation of an Established Business: A New Chapter for D.M. FURNISHINGS

For the past eight years, D.M. Furnishings has been an integral part of the vibrant Sutton-in-Ashfield high street community. As a local enterprise deeply rooted in the area, owner Darren has not only served the town but has also become synonymous with quality and reliability. Now, with an eye on expanding horizons, this cherished family venture is embarking on an exciting journey from Low Street to a more prominent spot on Outram Street.

Darren's connection to Sutton-in-Ashfield runs deep, and his commitment to supporting the local high street is unwavering. This commitment has been the driving force behind the decision to relocate the business, setting up shop in a spacious, two-level store. The move provides an opportunity to exhibit an even more extensive array of products, showcasing D.M. Furnishings' diverse range to its full potential.

The story of D.M. Furnishings goes beyond its time on the high street. Prior to this venture, Darren successfully ran his own furniture manufacturing and reupholstering factory. With over two decades of experience in the industry, Darren's expertise is the cornerstone of the business's reputation for quality and craftsmanship.

Central to D.M. Furnishings' ethos is the dedication to exceptional customer service. Darren goes the extra mile to ensure that each customer's experience is personalised and hassle-free. Before finalising any sale, he personally visits the customer's residence to assess the available space and the property's access points. This meticulous approach prevents the all-too-common disappointment of purchasing furniture that doesn't quite fit the intended space.

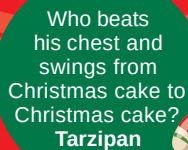

D.M. Furnishings also offer a wide variety of bespoke products including sofas, chairs, and recliners. The allure lies not only in the diversity of products but also in the ability to tailor each piece to your precise measurements. With a vast selection of fabrics, customers can truly imbue their individual style into every piece they choose. As a testament to their commitment to customer convenience, D.M. Furnishings also provides a home delivery service for all products.

In this new phase of its journey, D.M. Furnishings as they settle into their new Outram Street store, the legacy of quality, personalised service, and a strong connection to the local community will undoubtedly continue to define the essence of D.M. Furnishings.

DON'T LOSE THE THINGS YOU LOVE

From helping you find your car keys to helping the police find your car, trackers are relatively inexpensive devices that can save you a lot of time, hassle and money.

Apple's coin-sized AirTag, and rivals like Tile, combine clever tech with very long battery life and compact size so you can stick one in your purse or holiday luggage.

Bike Trac, is insurer-approved so might get you a discount on your motorbike insurance too. Expect to pay £299 plus installation and a subscription from £9.99 per month.

For your car What Car? likes the TruTrak FMT100, which is about £35 and the £48 Carlock Advanced Real-Time Tracker.

Tile Pro

£29, uk.tile.com

Tile's trackers are very similar to AirTags for a bit less money and the app is also available for Android phones.

Apple AirTag

£35, Apple.com

These are great for finding misplaced and left-behind items, provided you have an iPhone.

TruTrak FMT100 car tracker

£35, trutrak.co.uk

This is the same device that many expensive car manufacturers put in their vehicles; it just doesn't have the branding. What Car? magazine rates this as the best car tracker.

Garmin Alpha T20K £299, Garmin.com

For working dogs, Garmin's GPS tracker enables you to track them up to six miles away.

Bike Trac

£299, biketrac.co.uk
Sleep a bit more easily at night in the knowledge that Bike Trac should find your bike even if the police can't.

Season's readings!

Get Christmas wrapped up with our selection of festive reads for all the family.

FESTIVE by Francesca Stone

Brimming with ways to have a magical and more sustainable Christmas with your own personal touch. Alongside festive recipes, discover styling tips covering how to dress your front door and tree, and crafty ideas to make your celebrations meaningful without the big spend.

A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens

When Charles Dickens's A Christmas Carol was first published in 1843 it was an overnight success, following the fortune of miserly, penny-pinching Ebenezer Scrooge who views Christmas as 'humbug'. This version is part of the Macmillan Collector's Library.

Letters from Father Christmas by J. R. R. Tolkien

Every December, an envelope bearing a stamp from the North Pole would arrive for J.R.R. Tolkien's children. Inside would be a letter in strange spidery handwriting, and a beautifully coloured drawing or some sketches. The letters were from Father Christmas...

This centenary edition promises to be a festive feast for Tolkien fans of all ages.

The Adventure of the Christmas Pudding – Poirot

Agatha Christie's seasonal Poirot and Marple short story collection. First, a sinister warning to Poirot not to eat any plum pudding... ending with the puzzle of the victim who dreamt his own suicide. What links this series of baffling cases? Poirot, of course!

The Haunting Season – featuring eight best-selling authors

From a bustling Covent Garden Christmas market and the frosty moors of Yorkshire to a London mansion where a beautiful girl lies frozen in death, eight best-selling authors, including Bridget Collins and Andrew Michael Hurley, bring you a spine-chilling wintry collection of ghostly and Gothic tales.

We Wish You A Merry Christmas and Other Festive Poems by Chris Riddell

The perfect stocking filler for poetry lovers of all ages, mixing old favourites with brand new festive verse. Includes much-loved traditional verse: The Night Before Christmas, The Twelve Days of Christmas, We Wish You a Merry Christmas, and new seasonal verse.

INSURE TO ENSURE

We look at some of the most common home insurance pitfalls that could cost you dearly.

Building work or structural changes

If you're planning on carrying out building work to your property, whether it is structural or likely to affect the value of your home, you'll need to let your insurer know. You won't need to notify them about minor changes, such as redecorating, but they'll need to know about more significant projects, such as a conservatory.

Sub-letting

Sub-letting your home will probably not be covered by a regular policy, so you must inform your insurer when taking out insurance or let them know if somebody moves in. If you don't, and something goes wrong due to their actions, your policy may be invalidated.

Mistaking insurance types

There are two main types of house insurance – buildings insurance and contents insurance. They cover different things, yet some people assume they are the same. Contents insurance covers anything considered a personal possession that could reasonably be moved, from laptops to furniture. Building insurance covers the overall structure of your building, along with fixtures and fittings.

Leaving your home empty

Home insurance policies cover your home for a certain period while you're away, typically 30 or 60 days. If you leave your property unoccupied for longer than this and something goes wrong, you may have invalidated your cover.

Accidental damage

Many policies will not cover accidental damage as standard. This covers damage resulting from - for instance - leaving a tap on or breaking a piece of furniture. You can usually select it as an option at an additional cost when taking out your policy.

Running a business from home

Working or trading from home without telling your insurer could lead to your claim being rejected. Be upfront about it from the outset, as you may need a different type of insurance depending on your business.

Underinsuring your home

One of the most significant traps is underestimating the value of your property and needing adequate coverage. If your policy doesn't cover the total cost of rebuilding your home in case of a disaster, you may end up paying the difference out of your own pocket.

Flood risk

Living in an area prone to flooding can become a major headache with regard to insurance, particularly if you're caught out by changing flood mapping. Your policy may exclude flood cover if you live in a high-risk area.

High-value items

Items like laptops, jewellery and high-end cycles need you to provide specific details, including the price and a description that identifies the item. Expensive items may push the premium up.

Locks, windows and burglar alarms

You will need to accurately describe your home's locks, burglar alarms and other safety features. If you fail to lock doors and windows or don't turn on the burglar alarm, your insurer may not pay out.

CHRISTMAS CAKE

Makes 10-12 Preparation time about 1 hour Cooking time 1-1½ hours

Whether you're reducing your meat intake or catering for plant-based friends and family over the festive holiday, this classic-turned-vegan is the perfect centrepiece.

Ingredients

- 250g vegan butter or coconut oil, plus extra for greasing
- 175g soft light brown sugar
- Finely grated zest of 2 oranges and juice of 1
- Finely grated zest and juice of 1 lemon (reserve 1 tbsp juice for the icing)
- 150ml rum or brandy, plus extra (optional) for feeding
- 875g mixed dried fruit of your choice, such as sultanas, raisins, currants, cranberries and chopped figs and apricots
- 100g chopped candied peel
- 175 g plain flour
- 125g ground almonds
- 1 tsp baking powder
- ¼ tsp salt
- 2 tsp ground cinnamon
- ¾ tsp ground ginger
- ½ tsp ground mace
- ¼ tsp ground cloves
- ¼ tsp ground nutmeg
- 225g apple purée

For the icing

- 625g icing sugar, plus extra for dusting
- 75ml aquafaba
- 1 tbsp lemon juice
- 4 tbsp apricot jam
- 500g vegan marzipan

1. Preheat the oven to 160°C / fan 140°C / gas mark 3. Grease a deep 20cm round cake tin and line with non-stick baking paper.
2. Melt the vegan butter or coconut oil in a saucepan along with the brown sugar, citrus zest and juice, and rum or brandy (if using). Bring to a boil and simmer for 2 minutes, then remove from the heat.
3. Add the dried fruit and candied peel to a large bowl, pour over the vegan butter/coconut oil mixture, and stir well.
4. Whisk together the flour, ground almonds, baking powder, salt and spices in a separate bowl. Mix the apple purée into the dried fruit mixture, then fold in the flour mixture until just combined.
5. Pour the cake batter into the lined tin, smooth the surface with a spatula and bake for 1½ hours. Remove the cake from the oven and let it cool completely in the tin. Once cooled, pierce holes all over the top of the cake with a skewer, drizzle over 2 tbsp rum or brandy, and let it soak in. Make sure the surface is fully dry before decorating.
6. When you are ready to decorate, whisk together the icing sugar, aquafaba and lemon juice in a large bowl until you have a stiff and glossy icing. Cover with clingfilm until needed.
7. Heat the apricot jam in a small pan, then brush over the top and sides of the cake.
8. Roll out the marzipan into a rough circle about 2.5mm thick on a work surface lightly dusted with icing sugar. Lay it over the cake and gently smooth it onto the top and down around the sides, so that there is no air trapped inside. Neaten by smoothing over with the flat of your palm or the rolling pin and trim away any excess.
9. Spread over the icing in swoops and flicks to look like snow using a spatula or the back of a spoon. Let the icing set completely for a few hours before cutting. Decorate with frosted redcurrants and rosemary sprigs (if liked).

Recipe extracted from A Very Vegan Christmas by Sam Dixon, published by Hamlyn, priced £16.99, with photography by Charlotte Nott-Macaire.

December in the garden

by Caroline Knight

An ethical gift

The Government has committed to a 100 percent reduction of greenhouse gas emissions by the year 2050, compared with emissions during 1990. This can be achieved through a combination of emission reduction and emission removal, and one of the best ways to help towards net zero, as it has become known, is by planting and maintaining trees and shrubs.

Planting now

If you are tempted to wait until spring, you're missing out on a great opportunity. Winter is 'bare root season' and dormant, woody plants can be purchased at a much lower price than you'll see in spring. You can plant a hedge in the garden or add some native shrubs to your borders for the price of a box of Christmas crackers.

Jobs in the garden this month

- If you have free-standing fruit trees such as apples and pears, this is a great time to prune them. Not only will you be able to control their size and shape, but you will encourage them to be productive. You want an open centre so that a good airflow can be achieved. Try to prune yearly rather than severe pruning when the tree has become a tangled mess. Hard pruning causes the growth of multiple small shoots, known as water shoots, as the tree tries to replace some of its lost growth.
- Protect your pots and tender plants from freezing conditions. Use horticultural fleece as a wrap or move pots into a sheltered position.
- Mulch around the base of your favourite shrubs and perennials to keep the roots a little warmer. Take care not to allow the mulch to touch the stem, as this can cause rotting.

- Check stakes and ties to ensure they are not too tight but also to ensure that strong winds are less likely to damage your plants.
- Clear leaves from pathways for safety reasons, but allow them to stay on your beds. They provide valuable cover and shelter for many garden creatures and act as bird larders.
- Consider positioning your bird feeders over your beds and borders, particularly near roses and other plants that might suffer from aphids. The birds will help clear your plants of pests.
- In the kitchen garden, harvest vegetables for the festive season, including parsnips, leeks, Brussels sprouts and cabbages. Pick sprouts from the bottom upwards, allowing the ones at the top to develop. They can be blanched for around three minutes and then frozen if you prefer.
- Keep off your beds as much as possible because it squashes the air out of the soil. If you tread on a board instead of the ground, this helps to spread the load.
- Turn to your garden for Christmas decorations rather than plastic. You can make a door wreath using evergreens like yew and holly and plants with beautiful berries.
